- -The Fund has a sustainable investment objective, which is to further the transformation and decarbonisation of the global energy sector through investments in clean energy sources, energy efficient products and infrastructure as well as through the electrification of the industrial, transportation and heating sectors. This is achieved by investing in companies that advance the following United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (UN SDGs): Affordable and clean energy goal (SDG 7), Decent work and economic growth (SDG 8), Industry, innovation and infrastructure (SDG 9), Sustainable cities and communities (SDG 11) and Climate action (SDG 13).
- -The Fund is required to follow a Climate Transition Benchmark (CTB) or Paris Aligned Benchmark (PAB) as per Article 9 of SFDR.

KEY RISKS

WHAT ARE THE KEY RISKS OF THIS INVESTMENT?

- -The value of an investment is not guaranteed and can go up and down depending on performance. You could get back less than you have paid in. At times, the ILP Sub-Fund (Subject to the Appointed Actuary's agreement and provisions allowed for in the Policy Conditions), may need to change the way its price is calculated, to ensure that those moving in and out of the ILP Sub-Fund are fairly treated. This can have a negative effect on the ILP Sub-Fund's price and performance.
- -Fund managers have the ability, in exceptional circumstances, to suspend trading in their Funds for as long as necessary. When this occurs, we will need to delay the redeeming or switching of units in the relevant Fund. You may not be able to access your money during this period.

These risk factors may cause you to lose some or all of your investment:

Market and Credit Risks

Foreign Exchange risks: The underlying assets of the Fund may be denominated in currencies other than the currency of the share class you have invested in. The value of your investment may rise or fall in line with movements in the relevant exchange rates.

Market risks: The value of the Shares is sensitive to market fluctuations in general, and to fluctuations in the price of individual financial instruments in particular. In addition, Investors should be aware of the possibility that the value of investments may vary as a result of changes in political, economic or market circumstances, as well as changes in an individual business situation. No assurances can therefore be given that a Fund investment objective will be achieved.

Further Information

- -Refer to the 'Valuations and Pricing' section of your Policy Conditions for further information.
- -Refer to the 'Section 4

 Risk Considerations' section of the underlying Fund's Prospectus for further information on the risks of the Fund.

Liquidity Risks

Liquidity risks: The Fund may be adversely affected by a decrease in market liquidity for the securities in which it invests which may impair the Fund's ability to execute transactions. In such circumstances, some of the Fund's securities may become illiquid which may mean the Fund may have trouble in selling securities at a fair price within a timely manner.

Product-Specific Risks

Financial Derivative Instruments risks: The use of Financial Derivative Instruments may give rise to Leverage, liquidity, counterparty and valuation risks at times. Given the Leverage effect embedded in Derivatives, such investments may result in higher Volatility or a significant loss in the Fund's assets within a short period.

Stock Connect risks: The Fund may invest and have direct access to certain eligible China A-Shares via the Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect programme, and, as such, may be subject to additional risks. This programme is novel in nature and the relevant regulations are untested and subject to change. There is no certainty as to how they will be applied.

Emerging Market risks: Emerging markets are less established and more prone to political events than developed markets, such as government intervention, remittance of Funds or quota restrictions, unorthodox custody practices, unproven trading programs and uncertain legal rights. This can mean both higher Volatility and a greater risk of loss to the Fund than when investing in more developed markets.

Sustainability risks: The Management Company systematically incorporates sustainability factors, to the extent these present a material risk to a Fund, into its investment and portfolio construction processes, alongside traditional financial risk factors. This is done through ESG scoring methodologies using proprietary sustainability research and external resources, which are built into the portfolio construction process. Processes and controls for sustainability risk integration are embedded in a designated Sustainability Risk Policy, which is maintained by the risk management function and governed by the Risk Management Committee (RMC). The Sustainability Risk Policy is built on three pillars. The environmental or social characteristics promoted by a fund or sustainable investment objective of a Fund is used to identify and assess the relevant material sustainability risk topics. Based on these characteristics or investment objectives sustainability risk is monitored. Sensitivity and scenario analyses are conducted on a frequent basis to assess any material impact climate change risk may have on the portfolio of a Fund.
