SUB-FUND SUITABILITY

WHO IS THE SUB-FUND SUITABLE FOR?

The Sub-Fund is only suitable for investors who pursue the objective of general capital formation/asset optimisation and/or above average participation in price changes. It may not be suitable for investors who wish to withdraw their capital from the funds within a short or medium timeframe. ILP Sub-Fund is aimed at investors with basic knowledge and/or experience of financial products. Prospective investors should be capable of bearing a financial loss and should not attached any importance to capital protection.

It is important to remember that, as with most investments, the value of your investments are not guaranteed and can go down as well as up. Therefore we suggest that you only invest money that can be committed for the medium to long term. You should also bear in mind that securities held within a fund may not be denominated in the currency of that fund, so unit prices may fall purely on account of exchange rate fluctuations.

Please note that Friends Provident International Limited ("FPIL") investment products are intended for medium to long term investment and are not therefore designed for early surrender. If you do surrender early, a product surrender charge may be applied. Please note that the earlier you terminate your plan, the more you may lose.

Market and Credit Risks

Country and Region Risk in the Republic of Korea, Taiwan, Thailand, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Indonesia, Philippines, Singapore and/or the PRC: The Fund's investments focus on the Republic of Korea, Taiwan, Thailand, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Indonesia, the Philippines, Singapore and/or the PRC, which may increase the concentration risk. Consequently, the Fund is particularly susceptible to the adverse economic, political, policy, foreign exchange, liquidity, tax, legal or regulatory event or development in and risk of this region, or of companies based and/or operating in this region.

Emerging Markets Risk: The Fund invests in emerging markets which are subject to greater liquidity risk, currency risk and general market risk. Increased risks may arise in connection with the settlement of securities transactions in Emerging Markets, especially as it may not be possible to deliver securities directly when payment is made. In addition, the legal, taxation and regulatory environment, as well as the accounting, auditing and reporting standards in Emerging Markets may deviate substantially to the detriment of the investors from the levels and standards that are considered standard international practice. Increased custodial risk in Emerging Markets may also arise, which may, in particular, result from differing disposal methods for acquired assets. Such increased risks may have an adverse impact on the Fund and/or the investors.

Liquidity Risks

Liquidity Risk: There may be occasions when the manager is unable to sell some or all of the shares within the Fund, which could delay payment or redemption of proceeds. Purchases or sales by the Fund of illiquid securities (securities that cannot be sold readily) can lead to significant price changes.

Product-Specific Risks

Derivatives Risk: The Fund may use derivatives such as futures, options and swaps for efficient portfolio management (including hedging) purposes. This may lead to correspondingly lower opportunities and risks in the general Funds profile. Hedging can be used in particular to reflect the different currency-hedged Share Classes and thus to mark the profile of the respective Share Class. The Fund may also employ derivatives in a speculative sense in order to increase returns in pursuing the investment objective, in particular, to represent the general Fund's profile and to increase the level of investment above the level of investment of a fund that is fully invested in securities.

China Investment Risk: There are numerous and varied risks associated with an investment in the Equity Markets of the PRC, such as the risks of investing in securities under the FII regime, withholding tax imposed by the PRC tax authorities, and the risks of trading in RMB. As the Fund may invest in the Equity Markets of the PRC, it could also be exposed to risks associated with investing in China A-Shares and utilising Stock Connect programmes.

Credit Rating Risk: Credit ratings assigned by rating agencies are subject to limitations and do not guarantee the creditworthiness of the security and/or issuer at all times.

Interest Rate Changes Risk: If market interest rates rise, the value of the interest-bearing assets held by the Fund may decline substantially. This applies to an even greater degree if the Fund also holds interest-bearing securities with a longer time to maturity and a lower nominal interest rate.

The net asset value of the Fund may likely have a high volatility due to the investment policies or portfolio management techniques employed in respect of the Fund.
